

Dr Noah Philleo Parker Biography

Dr. Parker completed his otolaryngology-head and neck surgery training at University of Minnesota Medical School. He completed his Laryngeal Surgery and Voice Disorders training at Harvard Medical School. He joined the IU faculty in 2019 after 5 years in a private laryngology practice and is Associate Professor in the Indiana University School of Medicine. Dr. Parker also is an adjunct professor in the Indiana University Department of Speech and Hearing Sciences and Department of medicine. He regularly lectures to medical students, residents, fellows, and speech pathology students.